THE WAYSIDE GLADIOLUS GARDEN
ELLA W. WRIGHT, PROP.
CAVON, MAINE

Greetings! In we extend cordial greetings to all our friends and customers. It is a great pleasure to present our 1953 Price List.

You will no doubt notice the change in form of our Price List. The reason? Last June, after nearly thirty-five years of teaching, I retired. To me, my retirement does not mean a cessation of my labors, but more time to devote to my glads. There comes a time after the bulbs are all cleaned and put away for the winter when there is a lull in the work, so, to keep out of mischief, I have invested in a mimeograph, and propose to make my own Price Lists. I hope they will be easy to read and that you will like the change.

As many of you must know, in 1952 we experienced the driest growing season ever. Our glads would have been a failure, I'm sure, if it had not been for our irrigation system. With it we were not only able to furnish the glads with plenty of water, but we tried the "lazy man's way" of fertilizing. We used a soluble fertilizer, Ra-Pid-Gro, putting it on with the irrigation system. Our garden was fitted in the usual way - plowing and harrowing in goat manure and superphosphate. We made three applications of Ra-Pid-Gro, one when plants were about six inches high, another just before blooming, and the last when the blooming season was pretty well advanced. Our blooms were better than usual, foliage remained green longer, and that last feeding of Ra-Pid-Gro surely did things to the bulbs. We have never had such large bulbs nor so many bulblets. We found Ra-Pid-Gro economical to use. We used less than fifty pounds on two acres. One doesn't have to have an irrigation system to apply it. Any kind of sprayer or even a common sprinkling can will do the trick. Ra-Pid-Gro is also good for your vegetable garden and your African Violets. Because of our success with Ra-Pid-Gro we have made arrangements to have it to sell to our customers.

Another change took place last summer which we hope will not affect our business too badly. Anew section of Federal Road built near us sets us off the main road. However, you can come to see us just the same by keeping to the old road. In the spring we will have signs at both ends of the new road so you can't miss us. Visitors are always welcome.
